

Newsletter – May 2022

Welcome back to a new school term.

We are continually aware of how difficult and challenging the past months have been for everyone and the Partners at PFSI hope you have managed to enjoy a break over the Easter holiday and the new term has settled down well for you.

PfSI - The Future

For the past eleven years, the PFSI partners have had the wonderful privilege of working with over 60 primary schools across the East of England, supporting your school self-evaluation and providing a range of CPD opportunities. We have learnt so much from all of you and feedback tells us that you have enjoyed working with us and benefitted from the support we have been able to offer.

Most of you will now be aware that as a team, the PFSI partners have made the big decision to retire from working with schools in order to pursue the many interests we all have outside education.

The PFSI website will be closed down after 31st August 2022. If there are any resources uploaded to the site that you would find helpful to your school self-evaluation processes, then please make sure that you visit the site and download any relevant resources before that date. If you have lost your access details to the website, then to access the schools tab of the website use the following password (please note, the first 'o' in schools is actually a zero):

We would like to thank all of you for the support you have shown PFSI over the years and wish you every success and happiness for the future.

With best wishes

Pauline Ball, Nigel Battey, Margaret Leverett, Jan Stone, Jacquie Watkins and Alison West -
